NOTE: Because of rounding, detail may not add to total.

a) License States: Where available, license state consumption is based on taxed gallons reported by state authorities. In other states, consumption is estimated from state tax collections. Beginning with 1985, a new source is used for Arizona: Florida special (domestic) liquor products are added into the Florida data; finally, the monthly data for Indiana is no longer shifted while the monthly data for Tennessee & Texas are shifted to more closely reflect consumer purchases.

* For Georgia, Hawaii (1985-1988), Missouri, South Carolina, South Dakota and (after 1984) Wisconsin, consumption represents shipments by distillers to wholesalers. Beginning with 1985, the monthly data for these states are shifted to more closely reflect consumer purchases.

b) Beginning in 1987, the source of Hawaii consumption is state tax collections and may not be comparable with previous years.

c) The method of calculating Kentucky consumption was revised for years 1981-88.

d) Control States: All control state data, with four exceptions, are postage sales in retail stores and case sales to on-premise licensees.

 In Mississippi, Wyoming, Iowa and West Virginia (since July 1990), consumption represents wholesale sales from state-controlled warehouses to private retail establishments.

a) License States: Where available, license state consumption is based on taxed gallonage reported by state authorities. In other states, it is estimated from state tax collections by dividing revenues collected by the state tax rate per gallon.

* In Georgia, Missouri, South Carolina, South Dakota, and Wisconsin, consumption represents shipments by distillers to wholesalers.

b) Actual change in apparent consumption is distorted by state law changing tax liability from purchase by wholesaler to sale to retailer.

c) Control States: All control state data, with four exceptions, are package sales in retail stores and case sales to on-premise licensees.

 In Mississippi, Wyoming, Iowa and West Virginia (beginning in July 1980), the data represents wholesale sales from state-controlled warehouses to private retail establishments.

NOTE: Because of rounding, detail may not add to total. Imports are converted from proof gallons to wine gallons. The 1989 - 1991 figures reflect change in the proof assumptions used to convert imports from proof gallons to wine gallons.

* Defined as liquor bottled in the U.S. for domestic use and export; also U.S. liquor imports for consumption in containers holding not over 4 liters.

a) Through 1988 the source for data on Puerto Rican rum bottled in Puerto Rico was the Puerto Rico Rum Producers Association. Beginning with 1989, the source changed to the U.S. Census Bureau. The source for Puerto Rican rum bottled in the U.S., the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco & Firearms, is the same for all years.

NOTE: Because of rounding, detail may not add to total. Cordons included in "Other" before 1940; Others included in "Other" before 1940; Tequila included in "Other" before 1974; Vodka included in "Other" before 1980.

a) Data for the years 1934 through 1978 are in tax gallons; data after 1978 are in proof gallons.

b) Indicates shipments in wood or metal containers each holding more than four liters.

c) Substantial quantities of imported bulk rum were shifted from Customs' bonded warehouses to BATF bonded warehouses in 1984 (about 5 million gallons from Jamaica). As a result, these supplies have been described as imports for consumption although bottling & consumption may not take place for a year or more. The shift occurred because, with passage of the Caribbean Recovery Act in 1984, rum from Caribbean nations now enters duty free. This makes storage in Customs' bonded warehouses unnecessary to defer payment of import duties.

Tax Gallon: unit of distilled spirits on which the federal excise tax (PET) is levied. The PET on all spirits is $13.80 per proof gallon. A tax gallon is now equivalent to a proof gallon. Before Jan. 1, 1980, imports of bottled distilled spirits were taxed at the tax gallon rate, regardless of the proof.

Proof Gallon: standard U.S. gallon of 231 cubic inches at 60 degrees Fahrenheit containing 50 percent ethyl alcohol by volume (100 proof).
